LOGO INTERPRETATION OF 2010 SPRING CONFERENCE

and the winner is...

CHRISTINA SCHILLING

UPPER GRAND DISTRICT SCHOOL BOARD

As in a jigsaw, the two puzzle pieces are not exactly alike. They symbolize student diversity in gender, race, religion, family background and personal interests. In recognition of the varying learning styles (visual, auditory, kinaesthetic) of our students, the eyes do not resemble one another. Because of a growing recognition of the fact that in education "one size does not fit all", differentiated instruction is crucial in engaging and helping as wide a range of students as possible to be successful. Educators must be made aware of the need to provide differentiated instruction and the ways in which they already provide such instruction. Because of evolving technology, values and daily reality and the ways in which they affect our students, it is in our best interest to continue to adapt and augment our repertoire of instructional practices. While doing so, an emphasis must be placed on active learning, providing students with a safe environment in which to begin seamlessly interacting in communicative, contextualized language practice activities.

A big thank you to all the teachers who took the time to write and send in their logo interpretation. Congratulations to Christina Schilling, the lucky winner of the free registration for 2010 OMLTA Spring conference.

We look forward to seeing you all there.
